

2023 Washington College Archaeology Field School May 30 – June 23

The Department of Anthropology and Archaeology is pleased to announce a 4-credit archaeological field school [ANT 296] at two sites on the Choptank River. Students will investigate a Middle Woodland [500 BC – AD 900] American Indian settlement and an a complex of buildings that served as the first county seat of Caroline County.

In partnership with the Maryland Historical Trust [MHT], students will excavate an 18th century cellar and privy and investigate the nature of Middle Woodland activity on this portion of the Choptank River.

Participants will engage in all phases of field archaeology and laboratory analysis, including site surveying, stratigraphic excavation, recording, and artifact processing.

Regular Summer 2023 tuition* - no additional fees.

Students seeking on-campus housing should contact residential_life@washcoll.edu

For more information, to register, to schedule a site visit, or to volunteer, contact:

Dr. Julie Markin at jmarkin2@washcoll.edu

*Financial assistance is available; please inquire.